Educational Objectives

After completing the LiveStream activity and/or Extra Conference Presentations, the participant should be better able to:

- Define the mechanism of action of Low Dose Naltrexone (LDN).
- Discuss why LDN is different from regular dose naltrexone
- Describe the Contraindications to the use of LDN in a patient
- Describe the benefits observed in the treatment of patients with LDN
- Describe the side effects observed in the treatment of patients with LDN
- Describe commonly used adjunctive agents and lifestyle modifications in combination with LDN

The LDN Research Trust would like to invite you to participate in our upcoming LDN Research Trust 2023 LDN Conference. The conference aims to raise awareness of LDN (Low-Dose Naltrexone) among healthcare professionals and encourage its use in treating a growing number of chronic diseases by highlighting compelling examples and real-world results.

About the LDN Research Trust

The LDN Research Trust is a volunteer-driven, non-profit-making Registered Charity dedicated to raising awareness of Low Dose Naltrexone (LDN) as a potential treatment for autoimmune and chronic diseases. We also promote the funding of research and clinical trials of LDN and publish the results for the benefit of the public. Also, we maintain a vibrant online presence where users and healthcare professionals can learn and share their experiences.

We have helped over 100,000 people currently prescribed LDN by their doctors throughout North America, Europe, the Caribbean, and Asia-Pacific. Our ultimate goal is for everyone to access LDN compliantly for all conditions where LDN could be of benefit.

A group of people who profoundly believe LDN works for them set up the Charity. As a non-profit, we have no salaried staff, and 100% of all monies are used strictly for charitable events, charitable activities, and expenses needed to maintain the Charity's stability.
